

I think it would not be in the best interest of the public to allow this sale to proceed. Voom is the only viable option for many people, including myself.